Introduction

This workshop is funded by Department of East Asian Languages and Cultures and Language Resource Center, Columbia University (supported by NRC's funds). This workshop is to share hands-on experiences about the best practice of TBLT and PBLT in Vietnamese language programs across institutions in America.

Agenda

- 8:30 - 8:35: Greetings and Introduction.
- 8:35 - 9:10: Lecture on “Tasks in Teaching Vietnamese language” presented by Huy Phung, UC San Diego. This presentation will focus on the two key questions: what makes a task and how to make a task for teaching Vietnamese as a heritage/foreign/second language. As such, this presentation will not cover other aspects of TBLT including how to teach with tasks or how to prepare a task-based lesson plan. The presenter will also skip the theoretical and historical background of TBLT as an approach. However, additional resources and links to his previous recorded talks on these topics for your references will be provided.
- 9:10 - 9: 25: Q&A session for the presenter.
- 9:25 - 9:30: Break
- 9:30 - 10:05: Lecture on “Virtual Exchange - A game changer to Project Based Language Learning in Vietnamese class to keep students motivated and engaged in learning” presented by ThuyAnh Nguyen, University of Michigan. This presentation will discuss Project Based Language Learning and Project Based Learning where students in the Second Year Vietnamese at University of Michigan learn language and go beyond the classroom and Zoom with Virtual Exchange. The presenter would also share some practical experience and efficient tools in implementing Project-Based Learning.
- 10:05 - 10: 20: Q&A session for the presenter.
- 10: 20 - 10:30: Wrap –up and Thank you.
